Consumer Alert

Toyota and Lexus Vehicles to be Recalled For Problem with Accelerator

Dear Consumer:

On September 29, 2009, The National Highway Traffic & Safety Administration (NHTSA) posted an alert on its website to all Lexus and Toyota owners about the potential for their accelerator pedal to get stuck in the open position. This condition may result in a dangerous driving condition which could lead to serious injury or death on the road.

As a precaution, consumers are strongly urged to remove the floor mats on the driver's side until an official recall can be issued to address the problem.

For more information on this important issue, and for a list of vehicles affected, you are encouraged to visit the NHTSA website at www.nhtsa.gov . Click on the link to the "NHTSA Press Room" to view the September 29th press release.

Sincerely,

The New Jersey Lemon Law Unit
